

Industrial and Manufacturing

Despite the effects of a turbulent economy in recent years, the UK manufacturing and engineering sectors continue to produce many innovative companies which are both growing and thriving.

We have worked with many clients in the sector, helping them develop and grow their businesses. As their businesses have developed, we have also assisted with specific services which address issues companies experience at key stages of their growth.

From supporting many owner-managed manufacturing & engineering businesses, we have developed a deeper understanding of the issues these businesses face, which has enabled us to offer practical, realistic advice and share areas of best practice.

Our services to the manufacturing industry focus on the development stages these companies go through during the life of their business. In many cases we have worked with clients from start up to sale and have given assistance and advice at the various stages in between.

This has included:

- Day to day financial support and advice
- Start-ups/management buy-outs plans & negotiation
- Reward and incentive schemes
- Profit improvement plans
- IT advice and project management
- Fundraising
- Pre-sale tax planning
- Merger and acquisitions
- Ownership succession
- Business reconstruction and recovery
